

24. ERIKS' Global Distribution Network & Technical Support

Global distribution Network

ERIKS has a broad global distribution network of seal specialists. They can provide technical and application assistance in addition to a wide product offering.

Technical support

ERIKS chemists and engineers are ready to provide our customers with excellent technical and applications support. Seal design assistance, failure analysis, quality certifications, application testing and custom seal design are but a few of the services that are available.

ERIKS welcomes your comments!

We at ERIKS are constantly striving to improve our products and services. We want to make doing business with us easy, fast, efficient, and enjoyable.

One of the most important aspects of a relationship is communication. Our relationship with you is very important to us.

